

Since mid-April 2018, a region in Bavaria, Germany, has faced a series of fires set by one or more vandals that ignited trash cans, a car, and even an entire town house. At its peak, 8 different fires were started in a single night. Fortunately, nobody was hurt, but the material damages are estimated at around $450,000. The police could not make significant advances in finding the perpetrator until they publicly offered a reward of $6000 for each helpful tip. A crumpled-up black shirt found at one of the crime scenes and bearing a unique design may have been the critical clue. About a week ago, the police arrested a 37 year old suspect on charges of second-degree arson. If found guilty, he will face up to 10 years in prison. According to recent reports though, experts don't believe that the existing evidence clearly points to him.

Since mid-April 2018, a region in Bavaria, Germany, has faced a problem of arson. Many fires have been started by arsonists lighting up trash cans and other objects near people's houses, with damages around $450,000. Nothing happened until police offered a reward of $6000 for every tip. Police have found a critical clue--a crumpled-up black shirt bearing a unique design, found near one of the crime scenes--that connects a certain man with the crime. However, they're not sure if the evidence is strong enough to convict him.

Beginning in April 2018, there have been a series of arson crimes occurring in Germany. The damage caused by these crimes have amounted to nearly $450,000. Recently, the police have been offering rewards of up to $6000 per tip given, resulting in more clues. Though the police have found certain evidence linking one man to the crimes, they are unsure if this evidence - a uniquely labeled shirt- is enough to convict him.

There have been many crimes involving arson in Germany, with damages totaling over $400,000. Tips to solve the crime are valued around $6000. One tip is a uniquely labeled shirt, but police aren't sure if that evidence is enough to convict the suspect.

There have been many crimes involving arson in Germany, and the total damages have been around $400,000. Tips for information on suspects are around $6,000. One of the tips is a uniquely labeled shirt, but police are unsure if that is enough evidence to convict the suspect.

There have been many crimes involving arson in Germany, and the damaged have totaled $40,000. Tips for the crimes are about $6,000. One of the tips is a uniquely tagged shirt, although officials are unsure whether it is enough to convict the suspect.