

In late December 2017, a couple in Iowa checked on their 50 beehives when they discovered a tragic incident. The hives had been overturned and hacked apart, the equipment had been thrown out of the shed and smashed. This destruction caused the death of half a million bees and approximately $60,000 in property damage. Nearly three weeks later, two boys (12 and 13 years old) were arrested who are allegedly responsible for the damage. The charges against them include criminal mischief, offenses to an agricultural animal facility, and burglary. Since they are still minors, they'll be charged in juvenile court where they face up to 10 years in prison and fines up to $10,000 if convicted.

In December 2017, a couple from Iowa discovered that their 50 beehives had been destroyed, and the equipment in their shed had been thrown out and damaged beyond repair. Half a million bees were killed and there was $60,000 in property damage. A couple weeks later, two suspects (a 12- and 13-year old boy) were found and detained. They could face up to 10 years in juvenile prison and charged up to $10,000 in fees.

He knew that there are two boys of 12 and 13 years old accused in the juvenile court, where they will pay a fine of $ 10,000 and the worst thing is that they can be sentenced for 10 years if they are found guilty.

Everything, because there was destruction of the property in 60,000 and the death of nothing more than half a million bees.

The investigations point to them as responsible, it is definitely something to pay close attention to.

In Iowa a couple discovered that their beehive had been completely destroyed. This led to the loss of lives of many bees and destruction of property. In the search for who had done it, it turned out it was two young boys, around the age of 12. They had completely destroyed everything and were arrested for their crimes and to be tried as minors.

in the morning all honey was gone. at fault were some of villagers. they found them by bitemaks in the early morning they noticed that the honey was gone. The suspects were in the village because they found bite-marks on some of them
