

On January 15, 2018, a woman (66 years old) without a ticket and passport slipped through airport security and took a flight from Chicago to London. The woman entered Chicago O'Hare International Airport on January 14. First, she hid her face with her hair and passed two Transportation Security Administration officers who were controlling other passenger's boarding passes. After she was screened, she wanted to board a flight to Connecticut but failed. When the woman tried to sneak past the gate agent, she was stopped and directed to sit down. She stayed overnight at the airport and rode a shuttle bus to the international gate the next day, even though a passport and plane ticket are required to board the shuttle. She then entered a plane to Heathrow Airport (London), where she was detained by British customs officials. She arrived back in the United States on January 18. The woman is charged with theft and misdemeanor for trespassing.

A 66 year old women snuck onto a flight from Chicago to London. She then tried but failed to get on a flight to Connecticut. She was eventually caught by British customs and sent back to the United States.

On January 15, 2018 a 66 year old woman without a ticket managed to get on a plane headed to London. She was stopped in Connecticut but was able to get on a shuttle to the international gate. She boarded the plane to London and was stopped at Heathrow airport. She was detained and is being charged with trespassing.

An old lady in January got through airport security and went on a flight from Chicago to London. She got on secretly and I believe disguised herself. She was later caught at a stop on the way and was detained by British officials. She was deported to the US and charged with theft and trespassing.

A woman tried to sneak on a flight from Chicago to London but was caught and sent back to United States by customs.

On January 15th, 2018 a 66 year old woman managed to get on a plane without a ticket that was heading towards London. She was stopped at a connecting airport and charged with criminal trespassing.