would have been worth approximately $250,000. Nearly one week after discovering the illegally captured birds, the police arrested four men who purportedly attempted to commit the smuggling. The suspects face up to five years in prison and a fine of up to $8000 if found guilty. The case rests on several eyewitness reports, which provide a very strong case for the suspects' guilt. Moreover, the suspects' testimonies have been found to contain inconsistencies. Thus, it seems very likely that they were involved. Thanks to a routine cargo check, Indonesian police were able to Indonesian police were able to prevent a smuggling attempt through prevent a smuggling attempt. 250 tropical birds were found to be stuffed inside plastic tubes with wires attached to each end. a routine cargo check. The police found 150 birds stuffed into Police in Indonesia, when carrying out a routine cargo check, found several exotic birds stuffed into drain pipes that were pipes. The animals, which were supposed to be transported to the The police believed that this was the work of a wildlife smuggling US, were worth about $250,000. A week after the discovery of the ring. Weeks later, the police arrested four men whom they believed closed at each end. They suspected a group of wildlife traffickers. were responsible for the smuggling, charging them extensive fines The testimony of the suspects is inconsistent, and several people's smuggling attempt, the police arrested four men. While the suspects testimony indicates their guilt. They face a fine of $8000 and have not been convicted, there are several eyewitness reports, and four years in prison if they were found guilty. The case was and the lack of consistency in the suspects' own testimonies suggests supported by multiple eyewitness reports of their smuggling. On several years in prison. that they are very likely guilty. the other hand, the men's testimonies had many inconsistencies, thereby potentially indicating their involvement. Police in Indonesia carrying out a routine cargo check found several Indonesian police were able to stop a smuggling attempt. They exotic birds stuffed into drain pipes that were closed off at found 150 birds smuggled into pipes, which would have been worth indonesian police prevented a smuggling attempt, they found 250 both ends. The police suspected wildlife traffickers and arrested $250,000 if they had been able to smuggle them. The police arrested Four men were arrested for smuggling birds. They were caught during birds inside tubes. They arrested the men and their testimonies four men in connection to the case. There were several eyewitnesses, suspects, who had inconsistent testimonies that indicated their a cargo check. didn't line up so they only might be guilty guilt. If charged, they face a fine of $8000 and up to 9 years and a lack of consistency in the reports given by the 4 men. Because of this, it is highly likely they will be charged with the crime. in prison. Police in Indonesia when doing a usual cargo check found exotic Indonesian police found a smuggling attempt. They found 250 birds birds stuffed into pipes that were closed on both ends. Wildlife 4 men were caught trying to smuggle birds worth 250,000$. they traffickers are suspected of this crime, because their inconsistent stuck in tubes. They lined them up and interrogated them. But were caught and arrested and charged with the crime their stories didn't add up so they were sure to be guilty. testimonies. If charged, they'll face 9 years in prison and many, many dollars in fines. Police in Indonesia while doing routine checks found exotic birds stuffed into pipes that were closed at both ends. Wildlife traffickers Indonesian police interrogated two suspects of a smuggling attempt. are suspected of this crime. There isn't enough evidence yet, 4 men got caught smuggling 250000 dollars and got arrestsd Since their stories didn't line up, they were found guilty. but if caught, they will face up to 9 years in prison and high

Thanks to a routine cargo vessel check, the Indonesian police were able to prevent a smuggling attempt. They found about 150 exotic birds stuffed into plastic drain pipes that were sealed at each end by a wire. The animals were meant to be transported to the US, where they were to be sold as pets. Officials assume that the operation was planned and executed by a wildlife trafficking ring. This delivery

In Indonesia, the maximum penalty for stuffing exotic birds into pipes is heavy fines and 9 years in prison. When an incidence of such a crime occurred, the police suspected that wildlife traffickers were responsible for the crime.