Thanks to a routine cargo vessel check, the Indonesian police were able to prevent a smuggling attempt. They found about 150 exotic birds stuffed into plastic drain pipes that were sealed at each end by a wire. The animals were meant to be transported to the US, where they were to be sold as pets. Officials assume that the operation was planned and executed by a wildlife trafficking ring. This delivery would have been worth approximately $250,000. Nearly one week after discovering the illegally captured birds, the police arrested four men who purportedly attempted to commit the smuggling. The suspects face up to five years in prison and a fine of up to $8000 if found guilty. The case rests on several eyewitness reports, which provide a very strong case for the suspects' guilt. Moreover, the suspects' testimonies have been found to contain inconsistencies. Thus, it seems very likely that they were involved.

Thanks to a routine cargo check, Indonesian authorities were able to stop a smuggling attempt. They found 150 exotic birds stuffed into drain pipes which were sealed on each end by wire. The smuggling was likely attempted by an animal trafficking ring and would be sold in the US as pets for a profit of $250,000. Nearly a week later, four men were arrested as suspects -- each facing 5 years in prison and fines of $8000.

An animal trafficking ring was stopped in Indonesia after a routine cargo check. They found exotic birds stuffed in drain pipes. These birds would have been sold in the US for profits up to $250,000. If the smugglers are found guilty, they will have to serve time and pay fines up to $8000 each.

An animal trafficker was stopped in indonesia carrying very expensive birds. They would have to pay fines of up to 1000 if convicted.

An animal trafficker in Indonesia was caught trafficking very expensive birds. They would have to pay a fine of up to $1000 if convicted.

There was an Indonesian animal trafficker who trafficked rare birds. If he was convicted, the birds would have to pay a 1000 fine.

Indonesian Police found that $250k worth of exotic birds were being stolen and traded in the black market. There were 4 men who were arrested and will go to jail if the jury found them guilty.

4 men arrested for the illegal sale of exotic birds (value of $250k) by Indonesian police.

Thanks to a routine cargo check, the Indonesian police were able to prevent a smuggling attempt. They found 150 exotic birds stuffed into drain pipes. These animals were meant to be smuggled into the US where they would be sold as pets. The police arrested the four men and they face up to 5 years in prison

Thanks to a routine cargo check, Indonesian police found exotic birds. The 150 exotic birds were found in drain pipes. They were supposed to be shipped off to the United States to be sold as pets. The police arrested four men, and they could face up to 5 years in prison.

Thanks to a routine cargo check, the Indonesian police found 150 birds. These birds were hidden in drain pipes, and they were intended to be brought to America to be sold as pets. The police arrested four men, who could each face up to five years in prison.

There were 150 smuggled birds that were found by police, and they arrested 4 individuals who were the ones trying to bring them to America.

4 individuals were arrested for smuggling 150 birds to America.